The musical score consists of two systems of vocal lines and piano accompaniment. The vocal lines are in treble clef, and the piano accompaniment is in bass clef. The score includes measure numbers 101, 105, and 109. The lyrics are: 'I won't lock the door. _____ But did she lock the door for e ver more ? She locked the door. Did she lock the door ? _____ Did she lock the door ? For e ver more ? rit.' The piano accompaniment features a steady eighth-note pattern in the left hand and a more melodic line in the right hand.

I'm searching in her eyes but it's cold as ice.
 No more messages in the kitchen, it's cold as ice.
 She used to give but she locked the door.
 Is there any key ? I'm on the floor.

The letters I wrote her became bottles in the sea
 My phone remains dumb, its silence over me.
 She used to smile but she locked the door
 Should I quit or should I try more ?

She locked the door. Did she lock the door ?
 Did she lock the door for evermore ?

I thought I left some footprints in her heart,
 Where the most fragile flower could grow
 even in a barren part.
 She used to forgive but she locked the door.
 She left in my soul an open sore.

Someday she comes closer and then she disappears.
 What does she have in her mind ? I don't think it's so clear...
 I used to feel the warmth of her arms.
 I used to have her lips on my skin.

She locked the door. Did she lock the door ?
 Did she lock the door for evermore ?

I hope someday I will find peace.
 I will spread my wings to delight in the awaited release.
 I used to smile, I used to give.
 I don't wanna change, that's the way I live.

I won't lock the door. I won't lock the door.
 But did she lock the door for evermore ?
 She locked the door. Did she lock the door ?
 Did she lock the door for evermore ?
